JUDGMENT

Mr.K.L.Joseph, Standing Counsel takes notice for the 1st respondent-Panchayat. He submits that the juristic personality of the petitioner to maintain a writ petition in its name is in dispute. I also notice that no material has been produced by the petitioner nor this writ petition contain any averments which would show that the petitioner is a juristic person entitled to maintain a writ petition like the present one. However, the grievance is only that even though the petitioner and the 2nd respondent were already heard on 1.11.2006, no orders have been passed by the 1st respondent-Panchayat. Under these circumstances, this Writ Petition will stand disposed of in the following terms:

If as a matter of fact the petitioner and the 2nd respondent have already been heard on Ext.P1, the first respondent will pass orders on the basis of such hearing at the earliest and at any rate within three weeks of their receiving a copy of this judgment. But if the 2nd respondent has not been heard in the matter, a hearing notice will be issued to the 2nd respondent and orders will be passed only after hearing the 2nd respondent also.
